GENERAL OFFICES OF

The Cleveland Stone Company,

WILSHIRE BUILDING, CLEVELAND, O.

We take pleasure in presenting to your notice our Illustrated Catalogue of the building stone department of our business, which contains views of quarries and buildings erected with our stone, price list and such information as will be useful to those contemplating building, laying sidewalks or using stone in any manner.

This company was organized and incorporated under the laws of the State of Ohio, in July, 1886, and succeeds the following firms and corporations by purchase of their entire stone interests, in lands, machinery, stock on hand and good will, viz :

THE McDERMOTT & BEREA STONE CO.,	L. HALDEMAN & SON,
WORTHINGTON & SONS,	NICHOLL & MILLER,
JAMES NICHOLL,	THE COLUMBIA STONE CO.,
THE J. McDERMOTT & CO.,	THE OHIO BUILDING STONE CO.,
THE CLOUGH STONE CO.,	AND
THE BEREA STONE CO.,	THE NICKEL PLATE STONE CO.

The property thus acquired comprises all the large and valuable sandstone quarries in Northern Ohio.

We shall work only such quarries as will produce the maximum quantity and quality of stone at the minimum of cost.

Aided by the very best improved machinery and tools, and purchasing our supplies in large quantities at spot cash rates, we have no hesitation in saying we can fill promptly all demands for our goods, at the very lowest prices.

Our shipping facilities are the best, having competing lines of railroad connecting with all of our quarries, and being heavy shippers we can always secure the lowest rates of freight.

We have a private line of telegraph from this office to those of our superintendents at Berea and Amherst, and our own telephone lines from these points to all the quarries, thus greatly facilitating the prompt shipment of orders.

Correspondence solicited.

Yours truly,

THE CLEVELAND STONE COMPANY.

---------------------	---	---	---	---	---------------------------

We are prepared to furnish a superior quality of Bridge stone in unlimited quantities at short notice. We have furnished stone for many of the heaviest railroad and county bridges in this country. The New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Co. used over 1,000,000 cubic feet in the construction of their road, which was furnished from our quarries in four months without interruption to our regular business.

When ordering Stone give the Length as the first, the Width as the second, and the Thickness as the last dimension.

For Sawed Flagging we use a hard fine grained stone. It withstands wear, and in finish, durability and cheapness it has no equal.

Analysis of Amherst and Berea Stone.

Below we give the result of two analyses of Amherst and Berea Sandstones. The first by Prof. J. H. Salesbury, State Geologist, the second by John Eisenmann, Esq., Professor of Civil Engineering, Case School of Applied Science.

Specific gravity 2,335. Weight per cubic foot, (dry) 140 pounds.

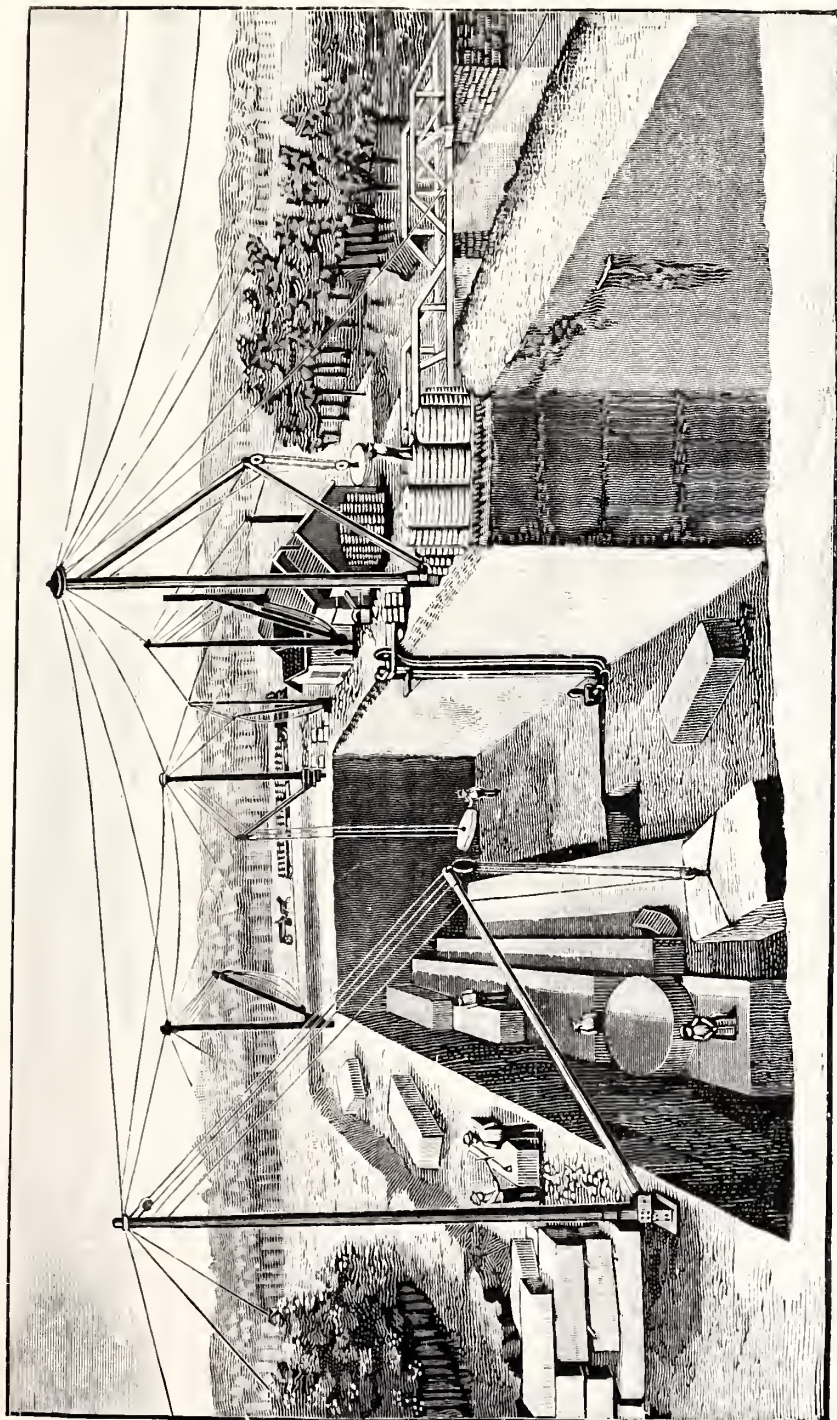

Percentage of water absorbed, (saturated) 6.35 per cent.

The average crushing strain as determined by Q. A. Gilmore, U. S. A., on five cubes 2 inches square, was 8,630 pounds per square inch.

The Amherst and Berea sandstones are widely known and are without an equal in the market. They are chemically nearly pure silica and are scarcely more affected by weathering than the best granite. They are also very refractory and will endure exposure to fire by which granite or limestone would be entirely destroyed.

Their strength varies from 8,000 to 12,000 pounds to the cubic inch; from two to four times that of the best brick work, at least sufficient to endure any weight likely to be imposed upon them by modern architecture.

The color of the Buff stone is a light drab, warm and cheerful; that of the Berea and Blue Amherst being a delicate and attractive greyish blue, both being uniform and unchangeable, with a texture fine and homogeneous, without flaws, iron or clay balls. These qualities are rarely found in as great perfection combined in one stone, and are such as fully warrant the high reputation which the Amherst and Berea sandstones enjoy. They are everywhere highly appreciated for their beauty, durability, and the ease and certainty with which they are worked.
